Viomi Technology Completes Acquisition of Brondell Inc.

Nov 27, 2026

FOSHAN, China, Nov. 27, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Viomi Technology Co., Ltd ("Viomi" or the " Company") (NASDAQ: VIOT), a leading global technology company for home water systems, today announced that it has completed its previously announced acquisition of Brondell Inc. ("Brondell"), a home wellness and water filtration products company founded in 2003 and headquartered in San Francisco, California, through an all-cash merger. Following the closing on November 25, 2026, Brondell has become an indirect subsidiary of the Company. This acquisition strengthens Viomi's presence in North America by adding Brondell's established brand, distribution channels, and experienced team, enhances the Company's local operating capabilities, and supports its long-term "Global Water" business strategy.

About Viomi Technology

Viomi's mission is "AI for Better water," utilizing AI technology to provide better drinking water solutions for households worldwide.

As an industry-leading technology company in home water solutions, Viomi has developed a distinctive "Equipment + Consumables" business model. By leveraging its expertise in AI technology, intelligent hardware and software development, the Company simplifies filter replacement and enhances water quality monitoring, thereby increasing the filter replacement rate. Its continuous technological innovations extend filter lifespan and lower user costs, promoting the adoption of water purifiers and supporting a healthy lifestyle while effectively addressing the rising global demand for cleaner, fresher and healthier drinking water. The Company operates a world-leading "Water Purifier Gigafactory" with an integrated industrial chain that boasts optimal efficiency and facilitates continuous breakthroughs in water purification. This state-of-the-art facility enables Viomi to achieve economies of scale and accelerate the global popularization of residential water filtration.
